Look at what we learned this week!

We are out of this world! As we learned about space this week we explored the life of an astronaut and even got to take a virtual tour of the International Space Station. This was really neat to see how astronauts sleep, eat, work and even go to the bathroom in outer space. Did you know that they can sleep upside down and they have to buckle themselves to their bed so they don't float away? It was pretty neat and we wished we could float like they do!

One of our favorite activities we did this week was making ourselves into astronauts. Check these art projects out in our hallway and at the academic fair next week.

Preschool Social & Graduation

The preschool class has worked extremely hard this year and deserve a night to relax and reflect on the amazing year of learning that they had. Come celebrate our hard work and the graduating preschool class, that will be attending Kindergarten in the fall. The social will begin at 6pm in the school cafeteria on May 21st. Please bring your favorite ice cream topping. Everyone is welcome!
