Look at what we are up to...

This week we learned all about apples. We started the week by reading a big book to gain background knowledge on where apples come from and their life cycle. On Tuesday we painted with apples. Our paintings are hanging up in the room. Stop in and see them! We also used our fine motor skills to decorate a paper apple with chalk. Oh boy, was this a messy project or what. Some of us may have ended up with more chalk on our hands and faces than the apples but we sure had a lot of fun. We continued the week on Wednesday by taste testing green, red and yellow apples. We then made a class book about which kind was our favorite. Thursday ended with us making a project to go along with Dr. Seuss's book, Apples on Top! Find these in the hallway!!!

Thank You Parents!

I would like to say thank you to all of the parents and family members who have helped get this year off to a great start. Everyone has been very understanding and flexible and I greatly appreciate it. I am also very pleased with how well the parent-teacher communication logs are working for everyone. There has been a lot of positive feedback on them. As always you are welcome to discuss any concerns or thoughts you may have in person at any time. Thanks for everything!

Reminder—Pennies for the Hungry will continue throughout September. The class with the most pennies will win a pizza party from Pizza Hut at the end of the month. Let's go Preschool!!!!
